Advancing psychosocial treatment for schizophrenia

Intermediate

This presentation will review the history and discuss the future of psychosocial treatment and psychotherapy for schizophrenia. A presentation of the longstanding contributions of Professor Gerard E. Hogarty, MSW to developing effective psychosocial treatments for schizophrenia will be given, followed by a review of recent advances and new discoveries in related populations that underscore how fundamental psychosocial treatments are to supporting recovery from schizophrenia and many other mental health conditions. The integration of pharmacological and psychosocial treatments, which is essential in schizophrenia, will be discussed.

Three (3) learning objectives

By the completion of this session, participants should be able to:

1. Describe the different approaches to psychosocial treatment for schizophrenia and their unique goals
2. Identify approaches to personalize psychosocial treatment options based on service user goals and stage of recovery
3. Describe the need for effective pharmacological treatment when implementing psychosocial treatment for schizophrenia

Three (3) current (within the past 10 years) peer-reviewed publications that support the evidencebase for the content of your presentation

Publications must be listed in American Psychological Association (APA) Style (see www.apastyle.org for more information).
